VBA STATE TOURNAMENT - FT. EUSTIS

Election Results

At the July 9th VBA Quarterly Meeting in Lynchburg, the following officers were elected:

- President: Ted Grefe
- Exec. Vice-Pres.: C. J. "Woody" Woods
- Hunting Vice-Pres.: G. B. Booth, Jr.
- Field Vice-Pres.: Harry W. Bunting
- Recording Sec.: Pat Hamilton
- Corresponding Sec.: Sue D. Price
- Treasurer: Al Lipske, Jr.

Congratulations are in order for the new officers elected, and praises for the officers who are continuing in office for a past job well done. We are all sorry to see retiring President Ross Garletts leave office, as he has done a stupendous job over the past three years. VBA will have a tough time getting along without their mainstay, Edna Gillespie, in the corresponding secretaries department, because VBA has been Edna over the past several years. We know Ross and Edna will continue their good work in VBA through other phases, and will help where ever needed.

Adult Amateur Division Established

Your Directors voted to establish an adult amateur division at the July 9th meeting, effective immediately. This division was set-up to protect the amateur status of those archers who either have a desire to someday participate in the Olympics and/or F.I.T.A., or for the younger archers who are continuing their education and want to compete in schoolastic athletics. This division will compete for Amateur Certificates only and will not be awarded any pins, medals, or trophies. PLEASE NOTE! Also, your Directors voted to keep the Juniors and Intermediates as amateurs only, and continue as at present with the awards of VBA pins.

Russ Hawes NFAA Hunter Champ

At the 16th Annual Nation Field Archery Championship Tournament held at Crystal Springs, Arkansas June 27, 28, 29, & 30, 1961, Russ Hawes, from the Broken Arrow Archer Club, Boyce, Va. won the Hunters or Heavy Tackle Division some 200 points over his nearest rival. Russ was ahead all the way, and was never seriously contended. We are all justly proud of our first National Champion. Congratulations from all of VBA, Russ!

Several other archers from Virginia competed in the various divisions, Evelyn (Boots) Ford from NORVA, Fairfax, Va. won third place in her class, and Mary Gomory, Fort Monroe, Va. won third place in the Junior Girls.

Our best to all of you participants, as we understand that between the chiggers and the heat, it was a rough four day tournament.

Martin L. Smith, who needs no introduction to Virginia Archers, is up for re-election as Division Representative for the Mid-Atlantic area for the National Field Archery Association. Ballots will be mailed out in early September from NFAA headquarters in Redlands, Calif., for return not later than September 21st to be counted. DON'T LET MARTIN DOWN! Martin has already established an excellent reputation as a member of the NFAA Executive Committee, having attended four national archery tournaments, serving as an advisor once to the Executive Committee, and as a member in the last meeting. Martin has many archery friends throughout the country and is on excellent terms with the editors of such magazines as ARCHERY, TAM,

Shooting Problems Are Discussed

With all this talk about one bow being superior to another . . . one material better than others . . . these arrows flying straighter and faster than the competitor's . . . what can just an old, ordinary bowshooter decide what's best for him? As far as we can see . . . all other things being equal . . . it's up to the individual shooting the bow to find out what's best for himself. No two bows shoot alike . . . as no two bowshooters have the same success. Some can . . . some cannot. It's the guy behind the bow arm . . . and not the luxury materials. Many a time we've seen a fella take up his old wooden straight bow and shoot rings around the guy with his aluminum shafts, fancy recurve bow and Robin Hood hat. The quality is in Y O U . . . not the materials . . . although we must admit in all fairness, that a good bow makes a good archer shoot better . . . and a bowhunter who really knows his stuff makes ordinary bows and arrows sit up and talk turkey!

Did you ever take time out to warm up your bow before shooting? "Sure," you say, "that's only common sense." Okay, then how about you warming YOURSELF up a little? Just a few simple stretching exercises . . . arm swings . . . maybe a couple of push-ups . . . and you'll be amazed how much easier it is to start shooting your bow after a lay-off of a week or so. Get tired after shooting a few rounds? Stop, relax a bit. Shake your hands vigorously at the wrists, rotate your shoulders from front to back, do a couple or more of some toetouches . . . and you'll be ready to get back in there and ring that bullseye black and blue!

The True Sportsman

To be called a sportsman, one should observe the rules of sportsmanship.. A sportsman will observe both the letter and the spirit of game laws. These laws are intended to protect his sport. He should familiarize himself with the game laws of the state in which he goes hunting. If possible, he should know and work with the local game warden. Naturally, he will insist that his hunting companions observe them-----they are Your laws!

Indispensable?

Sometime when you're feeling important

Sometime when your ego's in bloom,
Sometime when you take it for granted
You're the best qualified in the room,
Sometime when you feel that your going

Would leave an unfillable hole,
Just follow this simple instruction
And see how it humbles your soul.
Take a bucket and fill it with water
Put your hand in it, up to the wrist,
Pull it out - and the hole that's remaining

Is the measure of how you'll be missed.

You may splash all you please when you enter

You may stir up the water galore,
But stop, and you'll find in a minute
That it looks quite the same as before..

The moral in this quaint example
Is to do just the best that you can.

Be proud of yourself, but remember,
There's no indispensable man!

and BOWHUNTING. Besides all his other attributes, Mr. Smith is one of the fortunate few who has retired from the business world and has the time and desire to further archery to the best of his ability. And he has loads of ability. Just mark your ballot for Martin L. Smith and mail it in time to reach Redlands before Sept. 21st.

Tournament Changes

Big Cherry Archery Club will have their VBA shoot on August 27th instead of October 15th as previously scheduled. The Manahoac Bowmen Fredericksburg shoot scheduled for August 27th is cancelled.

Tournament Schedules

All clubs are aware of the difficulty the Field Vice-President has in setting up the tournament schedules for the club VBA shoots. A lot of discussion takes place at each VBA quarterly meeting on how to better the situation so that all clubs are treated equally and that enough archers turn out at each scheduled shoot to make it a financial success. Our records indicate that there are more archers shooting in the tournaments than ever before, which is a good sign. However, because of the many clubs in the State, there are many conflicts and as a result there are an abundance of shooters at one shoot and only a few at another. Though the zoning system an adequate schedule has been set up, but it still leaves a lot to be desired. The problem of what clubs draw each other to their shoots still exists, and the zoning system does not solve this situation. Accordingly, it is felt that if some archer who is a steady tournament goer and aware of the different problems that are faced by the clubs throughout the State would take over the tournament scheduling and try and work out a satisfactory schedule, that many of the obstacles would be overcome. Gene Limerick has volunteered to assist the office of the Field Vice-President in this undertaking, since he is probably one of the most qualified archers in the State and one of the most traveled. By working with the clubs, finding out where their shooters for tournaments come from, and what the local problems are, it is believed that Gene can greatly help in preparing a 1962 tournament schedule that will be the best yet. More on this later. Any suggestions would be appreciated.

What Is Conservation?

The word conservation is somewhat like the word democracy. Both words are hard to define to the satisfaction of everyone. Each of the words may mean something a little different to different people.

Think for a moment, and try to put into a few good words exactly what democracy means to you. You'll find this difficult to do. Yet, in your own heart, you know what democracy is in the heart of the free citizen - it is a way of life, and a way of thinking, and a way of acting.

So, too, the word "conservation." Conservation means different things to different people, and each person may explain the word in a slightly different way. This is because true conservation is a way of life, a way of thinking, and a way of acting.

If you look in Webster's New International Dictionary Unabridged, you will find the word conservation is defined as follows:

"A conserving, preserving, guarding, or protecting; official care or keeping and supervision, as a river of forest." That may define the word "conservation," but it does not define the term Natural resource conservation.

In the fields of fish and game conservation, people have, in the past few years, begun to generally agree on a broad, overall definition of the term natural resource conservation. If we are to truly conserve our natural resources, we must agree on a broader definition of the term so that all will understand the problem and get the work done in a proper fashion.

Probably the best definition of the word conservation, as applied to natural resources, is the following: "Conservation is the protection, management and wise use of all natural resources. Natural resources are the soils, minerals, forest, waters, and wildlife found in or on our lands."

Fort Eustis is located on U.S. Highway 60, eight miles east of Williamsburg. Participants utilizing U.S. Highway 168 will proceed south on U.S. 168 to junction of U.S. 168 and 105, turning right on Highway 105 for Fort Eustis entrance. Directional signs at the entrance of Fort Eustis, will guide you to the Fort Eustis Rod & Gun Club, where the Archery Ranges are located. (REPORT IMMEDIATELY TO THE FORT EUSTIS ROD & GUN CLUB FOR INSTRUCTIONS, UPON YOUR ARRIVAL).

For your convenience, we are listing items that you should keep in mind:

- 1. Campers are requested not to arrive

If everyone will only agree on that one definition, then the work of managing our resources for wise public use would be far more advanced than it is now. This is especially true in the fields of fish and game management. If every fisherman and hunter would try to understand and live by that one definition, we would have few problems with our wildlife.
