From The President

V/ell, the year and hunting season are quickly coming to a close, with only days left in each as I write this. The year has had its ups and downs health-wise for the Seltzer family, but the hunting season, at least the latter part of it, has been fairly successful. I hope each of you have enjoyed the hunting this year as much as I have and have been at least as successful. Before we bring this hunting season to a close, there are several things I want to remind you about. First, don't forget to submit your application for the Bill Bennett Award. If you don't have an application there is one printed on page five of this issue.

Secondly, don't forget the VBA Annual Banquet is coming up in March. If you were fortunate enough to harvest a nice buck or doe, enter them in the respective contests for awards to be presented at the Banquet. If you have any questions on this, please call Dave Burpee. (His phone number is listed at left.)

The third reminder concerns the survey forms each of us received from the Department of Game and Inland Fisheries back before the season began. VDGIF was counting on us to fill out and return those forms as a means to gather important data. They had asked that we return the form by November 19. Unfortunately, only 7% of the forms had been returned by December 1. If you still have the form, please go ahead and mail it as soon as possible. I would like to cooperate with and assist the VDGIF whenever possible so that they come to count on us as a dependable and active part of the hunting community.

Lastly I want to remind you that the Virginia Hunters for the Hungry program can always use your help through donations of venison as well as dollars. Please help where you can.

I want to take this opportunity to say thanks to one of the finest bowhunters I know, and that is John Stockman. John has been our NBEF Director for the past six years and has put new life into the program. Without his interest and hard work the program would surely have failed. Under his stewardship several thousand bowhunters have taken the NBEP course and the number of instructors state-wide has more than tripled. John has also been solely responsible for the VDGIF taking a renewed interest in supporting the NBEP. Beyond the fact that he has served the VBA well in several capacities over the years, John is simply a true gentleman who sets the mark all of us should strive for as ethical bowhunters. Thanks, John!!! And our thanks to Al Baughman for volunteering to keep NBEP alive and well.

Looking forward to 1998, I want to encourage each of you not only to retain your membership in your local club and the VBA, but also to bring in new members who share your interest. If ever there was a time when the old saying "there is strength in numbers" holds true, now is that time. More and more we are going to see legislation propo that would limit or reduce recreatio. hunting in some way. The VBA should be prepared to oppose any reduction in or the loss of bowhunting opportunities. There were approximately 60,000 archery licenses sold in Virginia this year and we need as many of those voices behind the VBA as we can possibly get. Several members of the VBA Board of Directors have addressed Legislative Committees and/or the VDGIF Board of Commissioners on issues important not only to VBA members, but to all bowhunters in Virginia. Without fail the question will generally be asked, "how many folks does the VBA represent?" The actual answer is "everyone who purchased an archery license," but we sure need to have more of that 60,000 carrying VBA membership cards. We should all be concerned with the growth of VBA for that reason if for no other. So let's look at 1998 as the year we all do a little more to reach other bowhunters and make the VBA grow.

As we move into the new year, I weach of you a Happy Holiday Season a a healthy and prosperous 1998. Good Hunting!

- Bob Seltzer

From The Hunting Vice-President

It's over. Hunting season is now behind us and we have nothing to look forward to, no life to live, no interests to pursue, no . . . well, you get the idea.

Actually, the outlook is much brighter than this dismal picture, because we have a full season of VBA club activities and State Championships ahead to enjoy. Participation in "dot shoots" and 3D challenges keeps hunting skills sharp, exposes hunters to new equipment and techniques, and is a source of great fellowship with other archers. So don't put the bow down yet; there is lots to do between now and next October!

One of our key activities is the Annual VBA Awards Dinner set for March 14, 1998 at the Mount Vernon Best Western Hotel in Charlottesville. Tickets are available from your VBA club representative in January. Cost depends on final operating expenses to produce the banquet, but it is expected to be about the same last year — $25 per person or $45 per ouple. Last year we had 75 attendees and this year promises to be even bigger, so make your reservations early.

Highlights for the event will include:

- Another terrific meal from Applause Catering. They did a great job last year and promise more of the same.
- Raffle prizes from the many companies who are expected to contribute a wide variety of gifts.
- Door prizes for men and women, and a silent auction for a major gift or two still in the process of negotiation.
- A guest speaker is on the agenda, but as of this writing, has not confirmed.
- Displays of everything from fish to fowl to mammals.
- Equipment displays of traditional and compound archery.

• Presentation of first, second, and third place awards.

Awards will go to VBA members who harvest during the 1997-98 season the largest carp and the largest gar taken by bow and arrow. The weights need to be certified and you enter by sending the VBA Carp/Gar form to me. There are also awards for the season's largest doe by weight, the largest buck by weight, and the largest rack scored by the Virginia system. You need to send your entry form to me along with a copy of the game check tag and a copy of the scoring sheet for the buck. Please pay special attention to the requirement that the weights be certified - no guessing allowed! We have very few entries in any fish or deer category, so make sure your entry is received by February 28! Questions? Contact me, Dave Burpee, at 703-913-0508.

Happy New Year, and see you at the Banquet in March! ✓

— Dave Burpee

VBA September Board Meeting Results

- PASSED: Motion to eliminate the office of Conservation/Legislative Affairs Vice President. That officer's duties would be assumed by other appropriate VBA officers. Effective immediately.
- FAILED: Motion that 1998 State Open and Closed be 28-Field, 14-Animal on first day; 28-Hunter on second day.
- PASSED: Change By-laws Article 12 to increase Executive State Secretary salary to $4.00 per member. Effective January 1, 1998.
- PASSED: Motion to increase VBA Club Charter fee to $20 per year. Effective January 1, 1998.
- FAILED: Motion to change Article 4, Section 1, Paragraph 1 of VBA Constitution.

From The Executive State Secretary

On December 8, all club secretaries were mailed the necessary papers for 1998 club charter renewals and dues collections. If you are no longer the secretary for your club, please forward all forms mailed to you to the proper person, or contact my office immediately.

All VBA dues expire on December 31 of each year. Members who are not planning to shoot in competition may join only the VBA through your local club. If you shoot in competition for awards, for example, in State Indoor, Open, or Closed, it is mandatory that you hold a valid NFAA membership card.

Club secretaries are asked to remember to return all forms issued by this office to me before the January 25, 1998 deadline. I must have all club renewal charters (NFAA will mail you renewal forms before the end of the year), your club officers' dues, and a copy of your club's constitution/by-laws, if changed. I must have all these necessary forms before I can process your club's re-charter application. Return all papers at the same time to avoid confusion. Nothing is to be mailed to NFAA except insurance. REMEMBER ALSO THAT THE VBA CHARTER FEE HAS INCREASED TO $20. Make all checks payable to the Virginia Bowhunters Association, Inc.

Lend your club secretary a hand by paying your dues early and getting new people to join VBA. Our membership for 1997 increased and we all would love to see this trend continue.

I wish all of you a safe and happy holiday season. I am always available in the VBA office to assist all in any way I can. Please feel free to call upon me at any time.

Hunting Big Bucks In Illinois

had just grunted about ten times and then let out one extra long grunt. In addition, I had sprayed doe-in-heat scent in the air, hoping it would drift to a nearby buck.

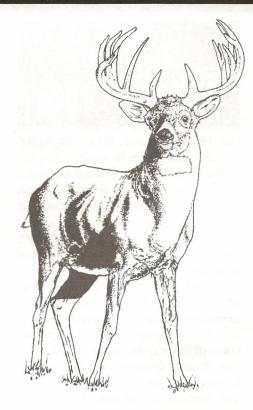

Down the hollow was a large fox squirrel. I watched him and just enjoyed the evening.

Then, as I rotated my head to the left, I saw a large set of antlers pointed straight at me. I closed my eyes knowing that I had been made!

This hunt had all started back in the spring when I attended the Pennsylvania Game Show and booked a hunt with Big Oak Hunting Paradise, Inc. of Lincoln, Illinois. As I talked to their representative, Greg Conrady, I knew he had just what I wanted — big bucks, and lots of them.

So on November 1, 1997, my hunting partner Harold Moyers and I headed out to Illinois. When we arrived the weather was terrible and miserably cold. We hunted in snow and rain until noon on Thursday, when finally the weather broke for the better. That's when things began happening.

From my tree stand, I heard a noise nearby and opened my eyes as "my" buck made two or three big leaps into some thick trees about thirty yards from me. He stood motionless for half a minute, then walked into an open area which I judged to be about forty yards away.

As I came to full draw and made a grunt with my mouth, he stopped, and I sent an arrow on its way. He ran down into the draw and I realized that this time I had missed. Then he started walking up the draw toward the corn field. I sat in my tree stand and became angry and frustrated at having missed. Down the tree I scrambled, and up through the draw in pursuit of the buck.

The ground was wet, so I was able to walk quietly with no crunch of leaves to betray my presence. Suddenly, there he was, right at the edge of the field. I could hardly believe my eyes! Being careful not to alarm him, I eased behind a big double oak. As I watched him, I gave another mouth grunt. He came toward me, right into an opening at twenty yards.

I came to full draw and stepped out from behind the tree. Lowering my pin on the buck's chest, I released. The arrow struck with a thud and the buck trotted for thirty yards, stopped, and rocking back and forth, down he went.

It was a great feeling to know that "my" big buck was on the ground. I left him there and went to find Harold to help me celebrate tl biggest buck I had ever harvested with a bow. He was a nine point that dressed out at 210 pounds.

I would like to thank the people at Big Oak for arranging for me this very successful hunt. It is a first class operation with plenty of good food, warm beds, and a lot of big bucks. Most of all we appreciated our guide, who worked hard trying to provide an opportunity for us to get a shot at a "big buck."

Thank you, Gary and Greg Conrady!

In Memoriam: Charley Davis

Members of Sherwood Archers and VBA were saddened by the sudden death of Charley Davis on October 10, 1997. Charley was at hunting camp doing what he loved to do – hunting deer. He had harvested one only one week prior to his passing.

Charley had been a member of Sherwood Archers and VBA since 1977. Those who came in contact with him knew him as a quiet and kind individual who saw the best in everyone. He was responsible for the long flower bed beside Sherwood's clubhouse. He assisted the club when money was needed for building projects and he seldom missed a Sherwood tournament or any other club function. In addition, he helped many young people not only by introducing them to archery, but by taking them hunting and on vacations, and encouraging them to be their very best.

In 1994, Charley was given the Lifetime Achievement Award by Sherwood Archers. This is the highest honor the club can bestow on its members, and is given, in addition to other qualifications, for dedicated service to archery, Sherwood's club, and fellow archers.

He will be sorely missed!

THANKS TO ALL WHO PARTICIPATED!

In Memoriam: James George Kohler

Torva Archery Club member James George Kohler, 76, was killed November 12, 1997 in a car accident outside Washington, Pennsylvania.

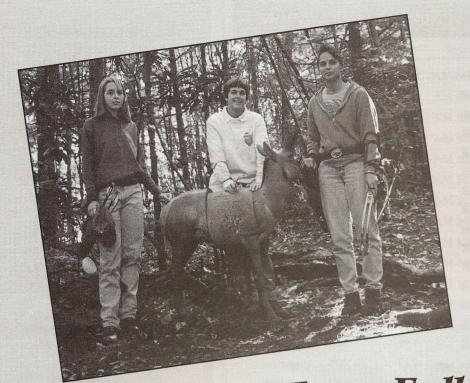

Mr. Kohler, who lived in Hyattsville, Maryland, was returning home from a hunting trip in South Dakota. A Pennsylvania State Police spokesman said the truck Mr. Kohler was driving struck a guard rail after it skidded on a patch of ice on a bridge along Interstate 70. He was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident. Three passengers in the truck suffered minor injuries, police said.

Mr. Kohler was a retired Washington, D.C. police detective lieutenant, having begun his police career after serving in the Navy during World War II. Three years after his retirement in 1970, Mr. Kohler began a retail lawn business with his son Gary Kohler.

He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion and the Fraternal Order of Police.

Mr. Kohler was an avid archer, hunter, and fisherman.

Javelina Hunting — Texas Style

As we walked back to our first bait site, my hunting partner and good friend, Jay Kumar, tapped me on the shoulder and whispered, "Look — javelina." It had only been twenty minutes since we laid a trail of corn twenty five yards long down the winding dirt road. Now, the skill of stalking would be used to close in on the skittish little pigs.

After a squeeze from my powder bottle to ascertain wind direction, we cautiously weaved in and out of the brush and cactus at the edge of the sendero.

As we got closer, we could see and hear five javelinas chomping loudly on the corn. Four were average-sized, but the one closest to us was a fairly large porker.

Thinking that at any moment they ould smell us and flee in terror, I made a classic bowhunting mistake. I hurried my shot. They ran off at the noise, but my arrow flew harmlessly over the huge javelina's back. I motioned for Jay to stay still and wait, knowing that sometimes javelinas come back if not disturbed further. A brief moment later, a grunting sound came from my right. An average-sized peccary was staring at me with intense interest. The showdown, him looking and me not moving, felt like it lasted for an eternity but, in reality, it was only thirty seconds so. Unconvinced that was normal, he turned to leave and in that split second I brought my recurve to full draw and released, collecting a nice javelina.

Many believe that these pigs have poor eyesight, and to some degree that's true. However, if you move with one looking at you, I guarantee you'll be by yourself wondering what happened.

Every February I pack my bowhunting gear and head for the Callahan ranch, 27 miles north of Laredo, Texas. The annual javelina hunt attracts more than 500 bowhunters each year, with 90,000 acres of South Texas brush country to hunt.

Highly regulated and well organized, the Callahan ranch offers four days of endless opportunities to see game. As at most ranches in South Texas, baiting with corn is a necessity. The ultra-thick brush and cactus don't allow the maneuverability that's necessary to successfully hunt javelina. The practice of spreading a long line of corn down the middle of a sendero (dirt road) and waiting in ambush for the little varmints is a common and proven tactic. Having more than one bait site and hunting with a buddy who can keep an eye on another area will greatly add to your success.

This year's hunt resulted in a 33% kill ratio, an extremely high count of javelina, considering the number of bowhunters.

After deer season closes and boredom starts setting in, what could be better than extending the season with a new experience in South Texas, bowhunting the gray ghost, javelina.

Author's note:

Corn can be purchased at the ranch, as well as ice to pack your javelina or feral hog after skinning. Primitive camping is available in predetermined areas, or one can elect to stay at a motel in Laredo. The Callahan ranch has a limit of two javelinas and unlimited feral hogs, rabbits and snakes. The ranch charges $100 for pre-registered four-day hunts and $120 if you register at the gate. A $35 five-day Texas small game license is required. Hunt dates for 1998 are February 6 – 9. For more information on next year's hunt contact:

How I Killed An Elk In The Mountains Of Montana

Recently, before my archery hunt for elk in Montana, I acquired a new release. It was expected to help me shoot accurately. Indeed it worked well during practice sessions before we left for the hunt, but its performance was yet to be experienced under real hunting conditions. It worked well indeed. Not only did it permit me to shoot accurately, but as it turned out later, it would stop a bull elk in its tracks.

One small drawback was that it required the use of two arrows per elk. The technique is relatively simple, at the first glance, even deceptively so. At the sight of an approaching bull elk, get ready and select your shooting lane. To now obtain a shot on a quartering away elk, inadvertently, or even purposely, trigger the release as the bull reaches the shooting lane and send your arrow rattling through the woods over the elk's back.

Upon hearing an unfamiliar sound, the bull will stop dead in its tracks, and look away from you trying to locate the source of the sound. Quickly nock the second arrow and place it in the quartering away bull elk. Works perfectly.

The second drawback may be that this technique doubles the price of the shot. Using two arrows per animal could set you back some $30. However, if the above technique is adopted as Standard Operating Procedure (SOP), then the first arrow could be just any old clunker, the clunkier the better, and only the second one would be the expensive Easton ACC 3-39, with a broadhead of your choice. Those to whom money is no object would simply use the expensive arrows each time, so as not to reverse the procedure and shoot the good one into the woods and the old clunker into the elk.

While this technique worked flawlessly for me during the recent hunt where I obtained a beautiful five point bull elk, it is not guaranteed to work for everyone each time and it has not been, to the best of my knowledge, tried on whitetail, at least not as SOP. Good luck if y decide to try this new approach, and let me know how it works for you.

BIGOSPolish Hunter's Stew

½ ounce dried musbrooms

1 cup boiling water

2½ pounds sauerkraut

3 slices lean bacon, diced

1 large onion, finely chopped

½ cup chopped parsley

1 tablespoon flour

2 cups canned tomatoes, drained

½ pound kielbasa, cut into ½ inch slices

1½ pounds cooked venison, or other game meat, cut into 1½ inch cubes

1 cup leftover meat gravy

Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

2 teaspoons sugar (optional)

cup Madeira wine

Wash the mushrooms and pour the boiling water over them. Let stand for 20 minutes.

- 2. Wash and drain the sauerkraut and place it in a large heavy kettle with a tight-fitting lid. Pour the mushroom soaking water over the sauerkraut. Trim off any tough stems and cut the mushrooms into strips. Add the mushrooms to the sauerkraut and cover. Simmer slowly for 30 minutes.
- 3. Cook the bacon slightly and add the onion and parsley. Cook until the onion is golden but do not let the bacon become crisp. Add the flour and stir in a little juice from the kettle containing the sauerkraut. Pour the mixture into the sauerkraut and mix well. Add the tomatoes.
- 4. Fold the meats into the sauerkraut and add the gravy. Add seasonings, the sugar and Madeira. Bring to a boil. Remove from the heat and let stand in a cool place or refrigerate. Tradificularly, this dish is served on the ond day, reheated, with boiled statoes. Refrigerated, it keeps for three to four days.
